WANT MCKINLEY FOR PRESIDENT

Maryland Republicans Met in Convention Yesterday.

The Proceedings Were Very Harmonious, and Though the Delegates Favored McKinley For President, They Were Not Instructed—The Platform Declares For Protection and Favors Gold as the Basis of Our Financial System.

BALTIMORE, April 22.—The Republican State convention was called to order at 12:40 p. m. to-day by United States Senator elect Wellington. By far the largest number of delegates were a big red badge on the lapels of their coat upon which was a photograph of William McKinley and the inscription in gold letters, "Patriotism, Protection, Prosperity, William McKinley, the Nation's Choice."

From the talk prior to the assembling of the convention it was apparent that there would be but little friction during the proceedings, although some of the eastern shore delegates declared their intention of opposing a gold plank in the platform.

A. P. Barnes, of Worcester county, was chosen temporary chairman without dissent. Mr. Barnes made a brief address, in which he advocated protection and "a dollar which would be a dollar the world over." Allusions to Reed and McKinley were loudly applauded.

Then followed the adoption of a motion of Mr. Wellington that all resolutions be first read to the convention and referred. A delegate from Frederick county offered a resolution instructing the delegation to use all honorable means to secure the nomination of McKinley. This was greeted with cheers and referred, as was also another that the preponderance of sentiment among Maryland Republicans was in favor of McKinley, and requested the delegates to act accordingly.

The platform reads: "We, the Republicans of Maryland, in convention assembled, reiterate our allegiance to the principles of the national Republican party. We declare for protection to American industries, believing that only in protection can prosperity again come to the nation. We are in favor of gold upon which to base our circulating medium and opposed to the free and unlimited coinage of silver under an international agreement of important commercial countries. Therefore, Resolved, That no instructions be given the delegates."

The delegates at large to St. Louis chosen are: George L. Wellington, Jas. A. Gary, William T. Maister and Robert P. Graham.

ACCIDENT TO THE PRESIDENT.

A Stumbling Horse Breaks the Harness to Mr. Cleveland's Carriage.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—The report that the horses attached to the President's carriage were frightened at a trolley car and demolished the carriage, is denied at the White House, where it is stated that one of the horses stumbled and broke the harness, thus causing a delay. Gardner Hubbard was passing in his carriage, and the President continued the remainder of his ride to Woodley with him. He was not thrown out or injured, nor was the carriage harmed.

Another Account.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—An accident to the team in which President Cleveland was driving to Woodley this evening caused alarming statements as to the safety of the President to spread quickly over the city.

Mr. Cleveland left the White House at 6:30 and just after crossing a car track on the city's boundary the night horse slipped and fell. The other horse becoming frightened plunged about and fell over the pole of the carriage on top of his mate. A large crowd gathered and the frightened horses were quieted.

The President had remained perfectly cool and stepped from the Victoria. By cutting some of the harness the horses were liberated. A lamp had been kicked off the carriage, but other than this the vehicle suffered no damage. The President continued his trip to Woodley in the carriage of Mr. Gardner Hubbard.

POLLARD MURDER TRIAL.

The Coils Slowly Tightening Around Mary Abernathy.

FARMVILLE, Va., April 22.—Owing to the absence of Judge Crute, who was called to the bedside of his son at Bedford City, the case of Mary Abernathy, charged with the murder of Mrs. Pollard, was not resumed until this afternoon. Judge Crute opened court at 4:15 o'clock.

Phil. Watson, who did not finish his testimony yesterday, was recalled. He stated he was with Mary Abernathy and Pokey Barnes when the news of Solomon Marable's arrest first reached them. When they were informed of his arrest they created a "blustation," and thanked God he had been caught.

H. A. White, of Fort Mitchell, was next called. His testimony was very damaging to Mary Abernathy, who made certain statements to him soon after Marable's arrest.

Lula Abernathy, who married a son of Mary Abernathy, was then called. Captain Wise, counsel for the defense, objected to her testifying, which caused a spirited tilt between him and Judge Mann. Judge Crute reserved his opinion until to-morrow. Court then adjourned until to-morrow.

THE PEARL BRYAN MURDER.

Progress of the Trial of Scott Jackson at Newport, Ky.

NEWPORT, Ky., April 22.—In the trial of Scott Jackson to-day the cross-examination indicated two lines of defense—one that the body was killed by some drug several hours before it was beheaded, where it was found, and the other that all confessions of Jackson were made under duress, were not voluntary and will be incompetent as evidence.

Dr. Gillespie, of Green Castle, testified that about January 1 Jackson admitted to him that he was illicitly intimate with Pearl Bryan and that she was in trouble. He asked Gillespie's advice and was told to marry Pearl. He then positively refused.

Dr. Gillespie then was requested to identify seven different letters, as written by Jackson, which he did and to each of which the defense objected, and was overruled. Some of these letters are to Dr. Gillespie. What their contents are will be unknown for some days.

Serious Friction Caused.

BALTIMORE, April 22.—It is currently reported in financial circles here that serious friction has arisen between the members of the local reorganization committee and the receivers of the Baltimore and Ohio Company, owing to a refusal on the part of the receivers to let the committee make such an examination of the company's books as is by them deemed desirable.

LOST HIS STANDING AS A MINISTER

Rev. Dr. Brown, of San Francisco, Suspended by the Conference

Until He Can Prove His Innocence of the Charges of Ungentlemanly and Unministerial Conduct Preferred Against Him—He Made a Bitter Fight and an Eloquent Appeal—His Son's Attempt to Assault the Moderator.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22.—Rev. O. O. Brown, pastor of the First Congregational Church, has lost his standing as a minister and will be ostracized by his fellow clergymen until he can prove his innocence on the charges of ungentlemanly and unministerial conduct preferred against him. After an exciting all-day and night session the Bay conference, composed of Congregational ministers and laymen, voted 49 to 32 to suspend Dr. Brown until he had proved his innocence.

The proceedings were intensely exciting and many bitter words were spoken. When the vote was announced, Valentine Brown, son of Dr. Brown, attempted to assault Rev. Dr. McLean, the aged moderator of the council, which first tried the disgraced minister. Dr. Brown and his friends bitterly fought the introduction of the resolutions suspending him, but without success.

The sentiment of the conference seemed to be in marked contrast to that of the council which, a few days ago, practically acquitted him of the charges preferred by Mrs. Davidson. Several members of the conference had also participated in the proceedings of the council, and they express themselves as dissatisfied with the council's verdict and in favor of the resolution to suspend.

Dr. Brown made an eloquent appeal to the conference to be guided by the verdict of the council, which he contended was an acquittal, and closed with the following words: "I ask my brethren again to seek something more in the nature of testimony before I am condemned. I would rather have you bind my hands behind my back and have six men in an adjoining room ready to shoot than to have you pass this judgment against me. In the name of God, I say to you, dear brethren, don't shoot."

The audience was then dismissed and the resolution adopted by a vote of 49 to 32. The moderator announced the suspension of Dr. Brown and the conference closed.

In a short time Dr. and Mrs. Brown were surrounded by a number of friends in the church who made loud promises of support in the future. Nearly all the delegates had retired when suddenly there was an exciting scene in the church. While the Rev. J. K. McLean, the moderator of the late council, was talking to a friend, Valentine Brown, Dr. Brown's son, rushed up to Dr. McLean and said:

"How dare you vote against my father? I'll put a hole through you." Dr. McLean waved his hand gently and replied: "Take this little boy away."

Young Brown was not to be silenced. He clenched his fist and drawing back his arm was about to strike McLean in the face when a man grappled with young Brown and held his arm fast. Dr. Brown at this time came up and took his son away.

Dr. Brown made the following statement: "I have no plans for the future. I have spent the best part of my life in the ministry. I am now getting along pretty well in years and of course I am too old to think of starting life in any other way. I have been fighting for my home. The Bay conference says practically that I have not cleared myself of the charges. In reply I say I have done the best I can."

"I do not know how any man could repudiate such serious charges as those preferred against me more thoroughly than I have done. I have asked my accusers to state the time and places of the various sins attributed to me. They failed utterly to do this. They have declared me guilty without furnishing any definite evidence of my guilt."

"Of all these imputations I have replied as best I knew how. If the Bay conference expects more from me than this they are asking more than is human. I have done all in my power in this direction. I know no other step I might take that would restate me into the fellowship of my brethren."

THE GAME YESTERDAY.

The Magicians Beat the Legislators in a Score of 9 to 7.

A large and enthusiastic crowd of rovers saw the locals down the Richmond yesterday in a prettily played game to the tune of 9 to 7. Lipp pitched for the home team, and, with the exception of the sixth inning, was almost invincible.

In that almost fatal sixth the Legislators, who had been blanked up to that time, knocked the ball this way and that way, up and down, sideways, sideways and all around, which with two errors by the locals netted them six runs.

At this stage of the game it began to look blue for the Magicians. The score stood 6 to 5 in favor of Richmond. McFalls off with a hit, Lipp was given a base on balls, Cockman struck out and in the meantime Wells caught Lipp off first and he was called out. Groves hit safely and scored McFalls and went to the third base on the throw-in. Williams was presented with a base on balls. Wrigley said he needed a hit and made one, which scored Groves, followed by Tate, who rapped out a nice little single, on which Williams crossed the rubber.

This lead of two runs proved too much for the Legislators who, try as they would, only succeeded in bringing one man home. The Magicians started the run getting in the first inning. Cockman sent the horse hide safely over Pender's head, Groves landed another in the right field territory and went to third on the error of little Barley Kain. Cockman had scored and the "fans" were yelling themselves hoarse.

Williams got an eye on the ball just as it was crossing the plate, and smashed out a two bagger that scored Groves. The Magicians were given goose eggs until the fourth, and by the splendid stick work of Gochenour, Tull, McFall and Lipp, who hit in succession for two singles, a double and triple, which netted three runs. Woodruff twirled the sphere for the Legislators, but he could not put the ball over the plate where the Magicians could not hit it. They were in the game to win, and played snappy ball from start to finish.

Tull covered himself with glory, and by the way, he covered the initial bag. Wrigley, Groves and Gochenour all played great ball in their respective positions. The Legislators put up a ragged fielding game, and but for the sixth inning would not have been in it. The score tells how it was done:

Norfolk will play in Roanoke the remainder of this week, and either Cheesbro or Coons will pitch for the locals in to-day's game.

Whitehill, the second baseman, will arrive this week.

Petersburg Still Winning.

PETERSBURG, Va., April 22.—The third game of the series between Petersburg and Norfolk resulted in another victory for Petersburg by a score of 23 to 9. Schmitt was knocked out of the box in the third inning and was relieved by Redding, who did good work for the visitors, but was unable to stem the tide. Kelly and Breen, of the home team, distinguished themselves by clever catches of hot liners. Kitson pitched a good clever game and his field work was of a high order.
